EX-CONFEDERATES MEET AT BANQUET

Annual Renuion of R. E. Lee Camp Last Night A Grand Affair.

A HAPPY GATHERING.

Hon. Richmond Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, Delivers Fitting Tribute To Robert E. Lee.

Alexandrians who were former Confederate soldiers, as well as others from Virginia and different sections of the Southern country, as is their custom on the night January 19, birthday of Robert E. Lee, assembled last night at Confederate Veterans' Building on Prince street, near Columbus, to participate in a banquet and annual reunion. The good cheer and hearty congratulations always in evidence at these gatherings was again in evidence and there was joy in the air from beginning to the end.

The ladies composing the Woman's Auxiliary to R. E. Lee Camp and the United Daughters of the Confederacy had tastefully and appropriately decorated the reception and banquet rooms and spread tables which would have appealed to the gods.

The company began to assemble about 7:30 o'clock in the reception room on the upper floor and half an hour later, commander William A. Smoot led the procession to the to the banquet room. After the company had been placed in position at the tables, Rev. W. J. Morton, rector of Christ Church and Chaplain of the camp, invoked a blessing upon the guests and the discussion of the feast began.

The following was the inviting menu:

Raw and Fried Oysters
Brown Bread Banquet Rolls
Celery Mixed Pickles
Pickled Beets
Roast Turkey Currant Jelly
Baked Ham
Chicken and Potato Salads
Cold Slaw
Saltines Wafers
Cream Cheese
Ice Cream Confederate Colors,
Assorted Cakes
Oranges Malaga Grapes
Cigars Coffee Punch

The feast continued about an hour during which enlivening music was rendered. Cigars having been lighted, the company were ready to listen to the speeches, a most interesting feature of gatherings of old Confeds.

General Lee's Farewell Address, having been read by Adjutant Edgar Warfield, Commander Smoot announced that Senator John Sharp Williams, who was to respond to the toast "General Robert E. Lee," was unable to be present, in consequence of Senatorial duties which had rendered it necessary for him to remain in Washington. He said Mr. John M. Johnson, however, would speak on the great commander.

Mr. Johnson said he had been made the substitute on other occasions when certain prominent speakers had been unable to fill their appointments, and would not attempt to deliver an oration himself on the great leader, but would read one delivered by Doctor Deering before the United Daughters of the Confederacy at Cleveland, Ohio, one year ago. Mr Johnson then read the address of Dr. Deering, which was listened to with close attention. It abounded in many pretty thoughts and incidents in connection with the life of the great commander.

Hon. Richard Pearson Hobson, of Alabama, was the next speaker. He responded to the "Confederate Soldier." The speaker paid a glowing tribute to the wearer of the gray, during which he showed that no more gallant band has ever appeared in history. He referred to a number of wars in the past history of the world, mentioned daring acts of other armies, but saw none that excelled the heroism of the Southern soldier. Mr. Hobson referred to their depleted ranks as the four years' conflict was drawing to a close, and how at the end they quietly laid down their arms with no word of complaint nor apologies for the cause for which they contended, walking with their heads erect. The Speaker said his father had been a Confederate soldier and that he often studied his picture, which strikingly resembled that of General Robert E. Lee, and thought of the influence the Southern soldier should exert upon their descendants. Mr. Hobson further said that he had thirteen uncles and other relatives killed and wounded at Gettysburg. He then made a comparison of the services of the Confederate soldiers with those of other countries, and showed how they had fought gallantly under greater disadvantages and endured more hardships than others. At the close of his speech Mr. Hobson said were Washington and Lee alive they they would urge that in order to preserve peace it would be necessary to be prepared for war by having a formidable navy at our command in order to enforce respect for our Monroe doctrine as well as other claims of the United States in the Atlantic and the Pacific. He also said these great Virginians would desire a sober country. The speaker took his seat amid applause.

Rev. Dr. J. W. Duffey, pastor of the M. E. Church South, followed Mr. Hobson with some "Snap Shots," which proved to be "home shots," and kept the company in good humor all the time he was upon his feet. At the last annual banquet of the camp the reverend gentleman delivered a similar talk which provoked much merriment, as was the case last night.

Rev. E. V. Regester followed Dr. Duffey. He spoke on the "Women of the South." His address, while at times pathetic, contained a vein of humor which added great relish to all he said. In referring to the civil war the speaker said he, too, was in arms (that is the nurse's) during those troublous times. While he often gazed upon his father's picture, it in no way resembled that of General Lee, nor had he thirteen uncles killed and wounded at Gettysburg. The nearest he ever was to being wounded was when his brother was shot. (Uproaring laughter.) Mr. Hobson was on his way back to Washington when Mr. Regester took the floor and, of course, did not hear these observations.

Major Burroughs, of Culpeper who was a member of the Seventh Virginia Regiment, subsequently made a few remarks, which were apt and appreciated, after which the company adjourned.

NEWS OF THE DAY

One striker was killed, another mortally wounded, and eleven others seriously hurt in a pitched battle yesterday at Roosevelt, N. J., between 1,000 striking workers of the American Agricultural Company and fifty deputy sheriffs. The strikers learned that strikebreakers were being brought in from Elizabethport. As the train pulled into the station the deputies charged the mob of strikers assembled a tthe station. In the melee some one fired a pistol and this was the signal for a general fusilade from the deputies. They opened fire with their riot guns. The strikers returned the fire. Eleven of the strikers fell. One of them was killed, the deputies charged the strikers time and again and finally drove them away from the depot so that the strikebreakers could enter the works. Further trouble is feared.

Charged with treason, Joseph J. Ettor, of New York, Industrial Worker of the World leader, was arrested late yesterday at Bellaire, Ohio, just before he was to address a crowd of striking miners. The charge against Ettor was based upon the placards announcing Ettor's meeting. They were printed in several languages, signed "Group of Revolutionists," and announced that Ettor would speak in Bellaire "against war; war for the classes and war against all capitalists of the world."

TEXT OF ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION

John Garland Pollard Sends Views to Finance Committee.

SEGREGATION PLAN.

While Measure Proposed is Defective, The Defects are Curable, According to Mr. Pollard.

Richmond, Jan. 20.—Attorney General Pollard in an opinion transmitted to the Finance Committee of the House of Delegates yesterday held that the plan of partial segregation recommended by a minority of the Tax Commission is defective in that it proposes that the General Assembly delegate to the proposed State Board of Taxation its authority to fix the amount of a tax levy, and that it is also probably unconstitutional and violative of the Bill of Rights.

After some preliminary observations concerning the nature of the case and the points he was asked to consider the Attorney General says:

"Those features of the bill to which your questions are addressed are all embodied in sections 6 and 7, which read as follows:

"6. During the month of February of each year the board shall make an estimate of the probable revenues that will be available for State purposes at the beginning of the next ensuing fiscal year, and also of the probable revenues that will be needed for State purposes at the said period. If such estimated needs shall be in excess of the expected available revenues, calculated as aforesaid by the board, then, in that event, the board shall call upon the several counties and cities of the Commonwealth to contribute to the state treasury a sufficeint sum in excess of the expenditures of the State government ascertained as aforesaid; but in no event shall such estimate be more than 5 per centum in excxess of the expenditures of the State government for the last preceding year, unless otherwise ordered by the express enactment of the General Assembly. In ascertaining the quota of such contributions to be made by each county and city the board shall apportion it in accordance with the aggregate taxable wealth of said county and city, to be ascertained in such manner as the board may determine. At the time of making such estimates should it appear that the revenue derived from the sources available for taxation by the State shall be sufficeint to meet all reasonable demands upon the State treasury, then the board shall make no requisition upon the counties or cities."

"7. On on before the 1st day of March of each year the secretary of the board shall notify in writing the treasurer of each county or city of the total supplemental sum needed as aforesaid for State purposes, and of the proportion due from such county or city estimated by the board as aforesaid, and such treasurer shall communicate the said notice to the chairman of the board of supervisors or the head of the governing board of such county or city, and such board of supervisors, city council or governing board shall fix the county or city levy with reference to such contribution to the State treasury.

"The treasureres of the several counties and cities shall remit to the treasurer of the Commonwealth on or before the 1st day of February following such notification the amount stated therein as being due from such county or city. * * *"

Section 6, above quoted, undertakes to delegate to a State board of taxation the authority to decide upon "the proable revenues that will, be needed for State purposes, and if, in the opinion of the board, such estimated needs be in excess," then the board shall call upon the several counties and cities of the Commonwealth to a contribute to the State Treasury a sufficient sum to meet the requirements of the State government as ascertained by the board. The same section further provides that the board shall apportion the deficiency. "in accordance with the aggregate wealth of the counties and manner as the board may determine."

The levy of taxes is a legislative function and cannot be delegated, while the assessing or valuing of property for taxation and the collection of taxes are administrative functions. The original responsibility of determining the expediency and making estimates as the bases of levies, but the legislative body cannot surrender its duty to pass upon the necessity and rate of the levy. In the proposed bill it is undertaken to vest the board with the power to assess or value the "aggregate taxable wealth," and also to decide what amount it is necessary to raise by taxation. And all this is to be done without reference to the General Assembly.

I am, theerfore, of the opinion that the bill is not only obnoxious to the principle that a legislative body cannot delegate its authority to fix the amount of a tax levy, but also probably in violation of section 50 of the Constitution, which requires that "every law imposing * * * a tax shall specifically state such tax,' and probably also in violation of section 6 of the Bill of Rights, providing that the people shall not be taxed "without their own consent or that of their Representatives duly elected."

I am also of the opinion that the section referred to is unconstitutional insofar as it undertakes to authorize the State Board of Taxation to make an apportionment among the counties and cities "in accordance with the aggregate taxable, wealth of said county and city, to be ascertained in such manner as the board may determine." The manner of determining the values upon which taxes are to be levied must be prescribed by the General Assembly itself, and in every plan under which property is assessed for taxation there must be embodied a provision giving an aggrieved taxpayer the right to appeal to some legally constituted tribunal for relief against an erroneous assessment. This is required both by the provisions of the State and Federal Constitutions which provide that no person shall be deprived of his property without due process of law. This necessarily implies a notice to the taxpayer and an opportunity to be heard. The bill does not provide for the essential features.

While I am forced to the conclusion that the bill recommended by the joint committee is unconstitutional, I am of the opinion that there is nothing unconstitutional essentially inherent in the plan of partial segregation, and I feel certain that the many able lawyers in the General Assembly can devise a plan which will not be ope nto constitutional objection. Partial segregation is no new devicte; in fact, our General Assembly has already partially segregated subjects of taxation, notably in case of money on deposit or in possession or control of the owner, such money having been segregated for State purposes by act of the present General Assembly passed at its regular session.

GOVERNOR'S IDEAS MEET WITH FAVOR

New Segregation Measure Reported by Finance Committee.

DRAWN UP LAST NIGHT

Provisions Which Were of Doubtful Constitutionality Are Eliminated by the Committee.

Richmond, Jan. 20—Partial segregation was favorably reported by the Finance Committee of the House yesterday. The majority report of the tax commission providing for a central taxing body was recommended for rejection.

The bill approved, which provides for partial segregation offered yesterday morning in committee by Delegate Aubrey Weaver, of Warren, chairman of the committee. The bill was offered as a substitute to the minority report of the commission.

It was explained by chairman Weaver that the bill was prepared by Governor Stuart. It contains the tax reform provisions of the Governor's special message sent to the Legislature last Wednesday, and if passed as the leaders say it certainly will be, will tend to almost immediately adjust the tax problem by more equitably apportioning the burden.

The new bill reported provides:

Local taxes on all real estate and tangible personal property.

State taxes on rolling stock, intangible property such as money in bank, stocks and bonds, etc, and all license and franchise taxes.

For purposes of education there is a general tax of ten cents for only one year, the hope being entertained that natural normal increase in values will make this tax unnecessary after one year.

In order to get the bill constitutionally before the House it was necessary to introduce it and then have the Finance Committee discharged from further consideration of it.

As soon as the House was convened (at noon today) Chairman Weaver of the Finance Committee sent the bill to the clerk's desk and moved for a discharge of the committee.

The point was at once raised that the committee had failed to carry out the instructions of the House. Chairman Weaver, supported by Delegate Hugh White, answered that the Finance Committee was not bound to report the segregation bill (the minority report of the commission) since the Governor's bill was reported as a substitute for it. The committee was discharged by a vote 83 to 4 and Governor Stuart's bill put squarely before the House.

After a formal motion to have 1,000 copies of the new segregation bill printed; also 1,000 copies of Attorney General Pollard's opinion (though the point was made that it had no bearing on the new bill), Delegate Gordon of Louisa offered a resolution to assure the public that the special session is not to raise taxes. The resolution was unanimously passed.

Delegate Chalkley, of Wise, moved that the segregation bill of the Tax Commission—the bill declared unconstitutional in part by the attorney General—be put before the House. He moved for the discharge of the Finance Committee on this bill.

This was bitterly opposed by Aubrey Weaver and Hugh White, who saw no use in putting before the House a bill rejected by the Finance Committee and declared partially unconstitutional.

Delegate Chalkley insisted upon his motion, but upon a roll call it was overwhelmingly defeated. This left Governor Stuart's bill the only tax bill before the House.

TAXES WILL BE DECREASED

Lindsay Gordon, of Louisa, Introduces a Resolution to That Effect.

Richmond, Jan., 20—That the extra session of the Legislature is not to raise taxes, but to decrease them is the pronouncement of a resolution offered in the House yesterday by Lindsay Gordon, of Louisa. The resolution was introduced, Mr. Gordon explained, because so many people believe that the extra session is to bring about an increase of both the assessments and the rate of taxation.

The resolution, which was adopted reads as follows:

Whereas, the General Assembly of Virginia realizes that the demand of the people of Virginia for tax reform is not a demand for increased taxation, much less for extravagent expenditures, and, whereas, taxes imposed upon the people, directly or indirectly, should be strictly limited to the necessities of the government, prudently and economically administered; and,

Whereas, the present revenues are believed to be adequate; therefore, be it

Resolved, by the House of Delegates, the Senate concurring, That in proposing changes in the present tax system of Virginia, it is not proposed to raise a greater revenue than at present collected, and should the system which is adopted at this extraordinary session, either through increased assessments or through greater efficiency in the collection of taxes, yield a greater amount of revenue than at present collected, then some plan should be devised at this session of the Legislature to decrease the rate of taxation in the same proportion that values are increased in order to produce the revenue now collected, believing that future Legislatures will provide necessary revenue for all legitimate purposes.

ZEPPELINS CAUSE ALARM IN LONDON

Drop Bombs Upon Cities One Hundred Miles From Capital

SEVERAL ARE KILLED.

Daring Aviators Make Raid in Darkness and Escape Across Sea to Base at Cuxhaven.

London, Jan. 20—All England stands against at the news that a fleet of German Zeppelins swooped down on the east coast during the night, bombarded nearly a dozen towns within scarcely 100 miles of London, and actually threatened the capital itself. Terror grips the heart of the nation.

All the raiding arships are believed to have escaped. Dispatches today from Hunstanton, near the raided area, deny the report that a Zeppelin was brought down there by the fire of warships off the coast. On the contrary, it is stated, an airship was early today, apparently returning to the German Zeppelin base at Cuxhaven. Unofficial reports from Amsterdam brought word that three airships, flying eastward, were sighted off the coast of Holland early today. They are believed to have been returning from the attack.

In the absence of official reports today the number of persons killed in the raid attack by the German airships is variously placed at from four to nine. Reports concerning the number of aircraft engaged range from three to six, with the latter figure generally accepted. Because the raid was executed in the darkness, reports are most conflicting.

ALLEGED MURDERERS

Men Arrested in New York to be Brought to Alexandria County

The alleged murderers in the Clark Station, Va., mystery case, who have been placed under arrest in New York, will be brought to Alexandria County the latter part of this week to answer the charge lodged against them.

The suspects burglar-murderers, are Michael Volidi alias J. Dunmond, thirty two years old, a native-born Turk, and Spiro de Bono, forty-four years old, a Greek. Their arrest was the result of tell-tale evidence discovered in the vicinity of the Virginia home of Mrs. Hattie A. Hughes "Frankie Harris," where the double tragedy occurred, two persons having been killed, and Mrs. Hughes herself having been seriously beaten.

Crandal Mackey, Commonwealth's attorney for Alexandria County, and Detective Charles Evans, of local police headquarters, left last night for New York where they will arrange for the interstate extradition of the prisoners. Mr. Mackey yesterday requested requisition papers from Gov. Stuart of Virginia, and these will be sent to New York by next Friday morning. Friday morning Sheriff A. H. Barbour, of Alexandria County, will leave for Albany N. Y. to take charge of his prisoners, and t is believed they will be brought here Saturday afternoon.

Soon after the tragedy sleuths working on the case turned their eyes toward New York as the city harboring the murderers. The first clew to give them this task was the discovery of a soft green hat and a ripped-out sweatband, the latter bearing the name and address of an Eighth avenue men's furnishing store. The finding of a bloodstained overcoat with a New York mark on the lining convinced detectives they were on the right trail. Then was found a New York postoffice receipt. Inquiries by the sleuths revealed the fact that Mrs. Hughes was acquainted with certain New York men, and that they had visited her house several times.

Last week Mr. Mackey and Detective Evans went to New York with Alice Morton, friend of "Frankie Harris" and clews in their possession were worked upin. De Bono was located, but was not arrested, as it was desired to withhold the coup until both men could be taken. Monday night New York detectives found De Bono and Volidi in a West Twenty eighth street butcher shop and the men were arrested charged with hurder.

Both prisoners denied they knew anything of the murders, although they admitted they were in Washington on the night of the tragedy. They said they came here to arrange with Mrs. Hughes for the purchase of a moving picture theater It is believed that Volidi is the one who attacked Mrs. Hughes. It is said that this man, while accompanying Mrs. Hughes to her home in a cab recently attempted to chloroform her She saved her life by boldly insisting upon the window being opened.

Mrs. Hughes has maintained from the beginning that the burglar murderers were New York men. She said she is sure she can identify the one who assaulted her. She declares she can never forget those terrible eyes that looked at her through the gloom of the hallway on that fatal Saturday night.

Michael Volidi and Spero Deliono, are planing to fight extradition. Word to this effect was received today.

"RED, WHITE AND RED COLORS."

While the colors of the late Southern Confederacy were not destined to wave triumphantly upon a stable national capital, they are worn in the hearts of every individual wearer of the gray who has escaped the scythe of the great destroyer, and, as Hon. Richmond Pearson Hobson said at the annual banquet of R. E. Lee Camp of Confederate Veterans last night, while the sacred principles for which he contended, risked his life and endured the greatest privation were denied him, no murmur of complaint ascended from his lips during his trying days. He laid aside his arms and walked home with his head erect with nothing for which to be ashamed nor had he any apologies to make. He believed then he was right; he believes so now.

While at present citizens of an united country and ready to defend the Stars and Stripes as they did the Stars and Bars, old Confeds cannot forget the days of the Southern Confederacy, and their annual reunions, when speakers recount the deeds of the Southern soldier upon the battlefield and laud the great leaders they followed with so much confidence, are necessary for their spiritual and physical natures.

On each 19th of January during nearly a third of a century the survivors of the Alexandria commands who hurriedly left their homes on the early morning of May 24, 1861, have gathered to feast and talk over old times. While naturally animated and enthused on such occasions, no bitter invectives are uttered against the men in blue who also were convinced they were right, and often ex-Confederate and ex-federal soldiers mingle in the best spihit at these interesting gatherings.

There was a large and enthusiastic gathering of former wearers of the gray and others at the annual reunion and banquet last night, and the occasion was as great a success as any that has preceded it. Of course, the ranks of the survivors of the great conflict are thin, as almost half a cenutry has elapsed since the scenes at Appomattox, but the presence of the corporal's guard, now in the far-advanced evening of life, has its effect upon their juniors, many of whose sires followed Robert E. Lee to the close of his great military career. Such experience enthusiasm while listening to the orations and gazing upon the pictures of southern heroes which embellish the walls of the Confederate Veterans' home in old Alexandria. Some of these are of well-known Alexandrains, who developed military genius during their day.

The responses to the toasts last night were from the souls of the speakers, and they sent thrills through their hearers. All did well, and the remembrances of the reunion of 1915 will long prove green spots in the memories of all present.

We can add nothing to what was said. The speakers virtually exhausted the subjects assigned them, and we can only voice the sentiment of all present, "it was good to have been there."

PERILS FROM AIRCRAFT.

England is suffering from another scare from Zeppelins. The dropping of bombs upon English cities last night, resulting in the killing of several persons, has sent terror over the British Isles.

It is said that the King and Queen had a narrow escape from death or injury. A little boy, sleeping innocently in his bed, was one of the victims of the bombs.

The fact that some death-dealing missiles were landed within about one hundred miles from London caused the greatest anxiety in the metropolis.

War is a terrible condition. The destruction that wasteth at noon is in our day augmented by the terror that flieth by night.

SEABOARD TRAIN WRECKED.

Some One Tampers With Switch and Causes Fatal Smash-up!

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 20.—Engineer T. S. Stone, of Raleigh, was killed, and Fireman Hogan, negro, perhaps fatally injured last night at 7 o'clock when the engine of Seaboard Air Line Train No. 3 split a switch at Osgood, 36 miles south of Raleigh, Express Messenger T. F. Radcliffe and B. H. Babock, both of Washington, D. C., were injured about the legs and arms. The passengers were shaken up, but not injured.

The engine turned over, pinning the engineer underneath. The fireman is believed to have jumped. Three coaches of a train of eleven cars left the track.

Railroad officials believe the switch had been tampered with, and bloodhounds and detectives were rushed to Osgood from Columbia, S. C.

TUBERCULOSIS

In addition to plenty of fresh air and proper diet, those suffering from or who are predisposed to Tuberculosis are recommended to use Eckman's Alterative to stop night sweats, banish fever and hasten recovery. This medicine, by reason of its successful use during the past, warrants the fullest investigation possible by every sufferer.

Eckman's Alterative is most efficacious in bronchial catarrh and severe throat and lung affections, and in upbuilding the system. It contains no narcotics, nor harmful or habit-forming drugs. Accept no substitutes. Sold by leading druggists. Write to the Eckman Laboratory, Philadelphia, Pa., for booklet telling of recoveries.

Virginia Girl to be the Bride of Young Doctor From Australia.

Norfolk, Va., Jan. 20.—J. Arthur Chapman, a young medical specialist, of Adelaide, Australia, has just arrived in Norfolk, after a ceaseless 12,000-mile journey from the island continent to marry Miss M. L. Hosiar, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hosiar, of Churchland.

Dr. Chapman met Miss Hosiar about three years ago in Philadelphia, where he was pursuing his medical studies at the University of Pennsylvania. He fell in love with her almost at once, but he did not wish to marry at that time, since he had not completed his preparation for work. So, after visiting Miss Hosiar here, he returned to Australia, and established himself in his profession.

NEWS OF THE DAY

Two men were shot, one fatally, more than a score of women and men were slashed with knives and razors early yesterday in a fight between two rival gangs of gunmen at a dance in Turn Hall, in Brooklyn. The dance had been given by the "Never Come Home Club" and peace prevailed until a member of the "Red Hook Pointers' Gang" insisted on dancing the fox trot with the girl companion of a member of the "White Hand Gang." Shooting broke out upon the crowded ballroom floor and soon each man was attacking his neighbor with gun or knife.

Mystery surrounds the death of Mrs. Minnie Hunter, whose body was found yesterday by her husband, Frank Hunter, a machinery manufacturer, of Pittsburgh, Pa., in a cedar chest in their home. Mrs. Hunter disappeared Monday, and her husband, after searching for hours, went to the chest to see if she had worn her furs. Lifting the lid, he was horrified to find the body, the head doubled tightly against the chest.

After remaining on strike for five months, 1,200 glove cutters in mass meeting at Gloversville, N. Y., voted to go back to work. The men demanded an increase in wages, but will go back to their work at the old scale. The manufacturers say there may be room for only 700 of the strikers, as the demand for gloves is not as heavy as before the war.

A dispatch from Petrograd to the London Daily News says: "Details have reached Petrograd of a feat of the cruiser Breslau. By an error that vessel bombarded a Turkish position at Liman, in the Black Sea, killing 3,000. The Breslau steamed off, unaware that she had been slaughtering her allies."

Private advices from Constantinople declare that a reign of terror prevails in the Ottoman capital, and reiterate reports that Adrianople has been abandoned. They report that every person spreading the news of the Turks' defeat in the Caucasus is hanged to Galata Bridge.

Fire last night totally destroyed the insulated wire department of the John A. Roebling's Sons Company, at Trenton, N. J. The loss will reach $1,000,000. The insurance on the plant is estimated at $750,000.

SPEAKER COX TO RETIRE.

Opposition in Virginia House Causes His Action.

Richmond, Va., Jan. 20.—Friends of Edwin Cox, Speaker of the House of Delegates, are discussing his retirement from the Speakership at the end of the present extra session. He was expected to be a candidate to succeed himself, but an element of opposition has developed during the present session which has caused him to notify these interested that he will not be a candidate.

The retirement of Speaker Cox will leave Delegate Harry Houston, chairman of the Democratic joint caucus, a formidable candidate for the Speakership. The Houston followers gave Cox support during t he 1914 race, and it is now expected that the Speaker and his friends will support the candidacy of Mr. Houston.

VIRGINIA:
Circuit Court of the City of Alexandria, Virginia.
Clerk Office,

Theresa C. Lacey,
vs IN CHANCERY
Charles W. Lacey,

Upon written application of the complainant stating specifically the last known place of abode of the defendant, and it appearing to the clerk that process has been issued and returned by the Sergeant of the City of Alexandria, Virginia showing that the defendant was not found within the jurisdiction of this court, the Clerk on the 20th day of January, 1915 doth grant the following order of publication:
